To explain and amend an Act of the Parliament of Ireland, passed in the Seventh year of the reign of his late Majesty, for better regulating the Payment of the Fees of Attornies and Solicitors, and other purposes therein mentioned.

Note.—The Figures in the Margin denote the number of the Folios in the written Copy.

1 WHEREAS by an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, in the second year of his late Majesty King George the Second, intituled, "An Act for the better Regulation of "Attornies and Solicitors," it was amongst other things provided, that no Attorney or Solicitor should commence or maintain any action or suit, for the recovery of any fees charges or disbursements, at law or in equity, until the expiration of one month or more after such Attorney or Solicitor respectively should have delivered unto the party or parties to be charged therewith, or left for him her or them at his her or their dwelling-house or last place of abode, a Bill of such fees charges and disbursements, written in words at length, ex- Preamble
2 cept times and sums: And whereas another Act was passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, in the twelfth year of his said late Majesty King George the Second, intituled, "An Act for continuing "the Act made in the eighth year of the reign of her late Majesty "Queen Anne, to regulate the price and assize of Bread, and for "continuing explaining and amending the Act made in the second "year of the reign of his present Majesty, for the better Regulation "of Attornies and Solicitors," by which last-mentioned Act it was among other things provided, that from and after the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand seven hundred and thirty-nine, it should and might be lawful to and for every Attorney, Clerk in Court and Solicitor, to write his bill of fees charges and disbursements, with such Abhreviations as were then commonly used in the English language, any thing in any former law to the contrary notwithstanding:

And whereas the above recited provision contained in the said Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain in the second year of his said Majesty King George the Second, was adopted and made the law of Ireland, in and by an Act passed in the Parliament of Ireland, 3 in the seventh year of his said late Majesty King George the Second, intituled, "An Act for the relief of Mortgagees, and for making the "process in Courts of Equity more effectual against Mortgagers who "abscond or cannot be found therewith, and against persons who "being served upon to appear, and also for better regulating the "payment of Fees of Attornies and Solicitors;" but no provision has been made or enacted in Ireland similar to the above recited provision contained in the said Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain in the twelfth year of his said Majesty; and it is just and reasonable that the law of Ireland should in that respect be assimilated to the law of England;

Be it therefore Enacted by the KING's Most Excellent MAJESTY, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, THAT from and after the it shall and may be lawful to and for every Attorney, Clerk in Court, and Solicitor in Ireland, to write his Bill of fees charges and disbursements, with such Abbreviations as are now 4 commonly used in the English language, any thing in any former law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Attornies in Ireland to write Bills, with ſuch Abbreviations as are now uſed in the Engliſh Language.
